0. Closed Loop Use Case Symbology

Use Case Symbology

NF1		NF2	SMO	TEST

Typical synchronus request/response

NF1 → NF2: 1 «Interface» Request Message

Note the difference in line. The dashed line indicates a response.

NF2 ⇠ NF1: 2 «Interface» Response Message

Note the difference in arrowhead. The open arrowhead indicates asychronous invocation.

NF2 → NF1: 3 «Interface» Callback Message

Line colors are used to denote test, existing, an to be developed messages.

TEST → SMO: 4 Test Message

SMO → NF1: 5 Existing Message

NF1 → SMO: 6 Message Implemented for Use Case

NF1		NF2	SMO	TEST